FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

The New York Family Business Center and The Network of Family Businesses Collaborate

The Network of Family Businesses continues to grow with Family Business Centers and multi-generational families joining. The New York Family Business Center has collaborated with The Network of Family Businesses to offer all members of The New York Family Business Center membership and access to the on-line educational seminars, the opportunity to dialogue on-line with other families in business, and access to the growing archive of information, articles and resources.

The New York Family Business Center gives family owned business owners and managers opportunities to interact and learn from each other and from family business professionals. The Center provides tools, resources, consulting, training, interaction, and education specific to family owned businesses in upstate New York in a nurturing and confidential environment. The Center partners with community leaders, organizations, colleges and universities to provide access, research and academic courses that are needed by family business owners. Family-owned businesses are fundamentally important to the U.S. and regional economy and comprise the backbone of our economy, strengthening entrepreneurial families has a great impact on the community.

The Network of Family of Businesses is an exclusive online network that connects Business Families who want to stay on top of trends while building their family legacies. The online organization, www.netfamilybusiness.com, was developed to meet the businesses owners' limited time and schedule to get away from the office and attend seminars. An online meeting place also cuts down on the increasing cost of travel.

President of The Network of Family Businesses, Dr. Steven K. Moyer, stated this is an exciting step in welcoming The NY Family Business Center into the growing Network of Family Businesses as they strive to help Business Families build their legacy.
